Subject: Report - Strange Lights in the Sky

I suspect they were meteors (do not believe in ET!), however, my Husband, two young children and I all clearly witnessed some very strange lights in the sky over Farleigh/Warlingham, Surrey last night, (Sunday 1st March) at approximately 7pm.

We were driving home from Selsdon, Surrey, and heading up Farleigh Road towards Warlingham when we spotted three very bright orange lights in the sky.

They appeared circular, with no tail that was visible, and were travelling at speed towards the East (approx). They were visible for a good 4-5 minutes very brightly, at which point they slowly faded and disappeared one by one.

I saw one on it's own first off, which appeared to be just above the tree line ahead, and thought it looked like an orange street lamp, but realised that as we rounded the corner there were two others - they were all high in the sky and together they appeared to be in a triangular formation to start.

We pulled over in the entrance to Farleigh Golf Club and watched as they flew over our head before disappearing. They made no noise, and we could not tell how high they were. Someone pulled over behind us, presumably to watch too, however, we did not speak to them.

Would love to know if these lights have been reported by anyone else and if anyone would know what it was we saw.

Why do we never have a camera when we really need one!

A response would be much appreciated. Many thanks
