Subject: Sighting over Winwick

MOD

During the early hours of 15 February 2009 at around 00:15hrs i was with my wife and two friends driving through Winwick Warrington. I was driving and sighted two orange lights in the sky which was hovering over the old hospital sight that is now a housing development. The lights were not together but were stationary. We stopped the car and got out to have a look. As we did we saw other people in nearby houses also stood looking at them. There was no noise from them at all. One then began moving and moved away out of sight in a southern direction. The second light stayed in placed and then after around 30 seconds also moved away in the same direction. Again there was no noise. It was out of sight within around 15 seconds. There was definitely something strange about it. I am not a real believer in ufos but there is no other explanation. I am a serving detective constable.
