

Hi

I would like to report a UFO sighting.

I organised a BBQ for some friends on 11th July 2009 at my parents home in palmers green, North london (n13). We live in a small row of terraced houses just off the A406, on a busy dual carriageway.

The weather was pretty drizzly that evening but as i had planned it for some time, decided to go ahead. At the time of the sighting (think it was between 8 -9 pm) i was in the garden with 2 friends when i saw an orange fireball about to crash 2 gardens away (about 50m away).

My initial thought was it was a plane on fire about to crash, but it wasnt travelling fast enough as a crashing plane, more like a slow motion crash as we had time to comment on the trajectory. We all waited for the 'bang' but nothing. One of my friends ran upstairs to see if she could see it from the bathroom... She called as it was now very high in the sky about 1/2 a mile away.

We all went back into the garden and discussed what it was. we soon realised it was not any of the following

- aeroplane/ helicopter - no noise
- flare / firework - no smoke and it aslo moved from a 30 degree gradient about to crash, to moving very high in the sky.
- air balloon- as it was very close we could see it was a pure ball of fire, also again the movement.

Upon being in the garden , again another object passed by about 3-5 minutes after seeing the first one. This time it did not follow the 30 degree 'crashing' trajectory but flew past a little higher but along the same path, 2 gardens away.

This time we all ran upstairs to the bathroom to get a better- further look at where it was going. Again it went up very high about half mile away. I ran to get my digital SLR camera with telescopic lense, but the camera refused to take a picture... just zooming in and out.

again we returned to the garden , discussing what we had seen.

For the third time another object flew overhead, we dashed upstairs again, again grabbing my camera, again unable to take a picture, so instead i grabbed my small digital camera. I managed to capture an image of this one but not as close as i would have liked.

This object seemed to have something protruding from the main body. Almost like it was a spherical object on fire, but with a leg protruding from it, also on fire, but with a visible gap between the body and the leg. yet they moved together in unison as if they were attached.

In short

- we saw 3 spherical fireballs, with an orange glow
- seen north london N13
- approx 8 -9 pm saturday 11th July 2009.
- 3 witnesses - no alcohol involved
- all following same path. one almost appearing to crash before appearing higher in the sky
- distance of 25 - 50 metres.

Hope this is of some help, i would like to hear some feedback if possible.

regards
