

From: Section 40
Sent: 30 October 2009 17:52
To: Air CmdSecCS-UFO Desk1
Subject: Just saw something amazing.

I'm not a UFO person, doesn't really interest me in the slightest. I don't either believe that it could be possible. But I was upstairs in my room (I'm 17), and my mom called me down. We were both amazed to see something in the sky. I live in Great Barr, Birmingham, UK. I know for a fact that we couldn't have been the only people to have saw the thing in the sky. It was insanely bright, so bright it hurt my eyes, and so bright that it could be seen for 5 minutes after it has passed overhead. There was also an aeroplane in the sky at the same time, I'd put money on them seeing it.

It happened like 5 minutes ago, the only way i could describe it, is as being a really bright jellyfish. The sort you see in documentaries glowing in the deep seas. It probably looked nothing like a jellyfish, but that was the general shape. I know I keep repeating myself, but If I google what I saw I bet someone else saw it too. It seemed to descend over my house, but that was just probably the fact that it was immensely big. My mom is still gobsmacked.

I had to share this, If I didn't tell anyone I would have probably exploded.

Section 40

P.S. If you know anything about it, please tell me!